

Australasian Online Sanskrit Week

Monday 2nd January to Friday 6th January 2023

'That is perfect. This is perfect. Perfect comes from perfect.
Having taken perfect from perfect, perfect alone remains.
May peace and peace and peace be everywhere.'

Bṛhadāraṇyaka Upaniṣad V.1.1

'What indeed is here, is there; what is there is here likewise.
He who sees as though there is difference here, goes from death to death.'

This is to be attained through the mind indeed.
There is no diversity here whatsoever.

He who sees as though there is difference here, goes from death to death.'

Kaṭha Upaniṣad 2.1.10, 11

Registration

To Register:

Contact Tessa Stephens at tessastephens71@gmail.com

Registrations close 30 November 2022.

No late entries accepted

Fee to be paid to your own School

$100 if paid by 31 October 2022

Thereafter $150.

Your Head of Sanskrit will provide payment instructions.

Who May Attend

- Open to meditating members of philosophy groups in the School
- Familiarity with the Sanskrit alphabet essential

You Will Need:

- Sanskrit pen and paper
- Monier Williams Sanskrit Dictionary
- Dhātu Pāṭha

Study is offered at all levels.

Full notes will be provided.

Programme Includes:

- Study of the above verses
- Chanting
- Guest speakers
- Plenary meetings

'The Śruti is eternal and universal. It is received, and no one knows who the author is. It is apauruṣeya, beyond human creativity. It speaks for the universe and for all time and remains free from contamination of individuality in its authorship or subject matter. It has universal authority. All knowledge comes from it, for it is the matrix of all knowledge. The Vedas and Upaniṣads are known as Śruti.'

Śrī Śāntānanda Sarasvatī Conversations Day 5, 1985