Artificial Intelligence and Real Wisdom

We have rapidly increasing exposure to online experiences - at work, in education, and at home - including via online classes and meetings, social media, and Artificial Intelligence. Could it be that we are becoming over exposed to virtual reality, that our social media can be an anti social media, and that our Artificial Intelligence is challenging our natural human intelligence? Have we lost what is really important in our human lives? Our brave new world is not only coming whether we are ready for it or not, but here, so what do we do, or not do, to best live in it? You are warmly invited to this special presentation and to help create a wise way for young people to transform virtual reality and Artificial Intelligence into true reality, and true life wisdom.

‘Conversations’ aims to create a space where ideas can be shared in a safe and encouraging environment. Somewhere to bring questions and concepts to discuss with others face to face. As well as discussing topics of immediate relevance to ourselves and those around us, we will practice the art of dialectic conversation.
